appealing party at the time of the investigation or hearing and that would likely affect the outcome of the case; or (ii) if the party has a reasonable basis to believe that the outcome was the result of a material failure to comply with the procedural requirements of this policy. A faculty member may also bring an appeal if the faculty member reasonably believes the outcome constitutes a violation of academic freedom. An appeal must be filed in writing within ten (10) days after the respondent is informed of the decision. Except in the case of appeals filed by faculty, appeals should be in writing and filed with the Executive Vice President, who will either sustain or reverse the decision, or refer the case back to the appropriate Dean or Vice President for further review. Faculty may appeal decisions pursuant to applicable provisions of the University Statutes.

Recordkeeping

A record of all complaints, including their disposition, will be maintained by the Harassment Counselor and the Office for Institutional Diversity.

A record may also be kept with a respondent's personnel file. For informal complaints, no
